Rule 45. Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTING A PERSON'S PRIVACY FROM SUBPOENAS

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises, or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from incurring any expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) For immateriality, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place other than the place of business or the place where the person resides, is employed or regularly carries on business in person, except that a subject to the provisions of clause (i) of this rule, such a person may be ordered to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the time within the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies;

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden;

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) requires disclosure of an invention or confidential scientific, technical, or commercial information, the court shall protect the person or entity from whom disclosure is sought by an order that is fully justified by the need for the information.

(4) (A) A subpoena may be quashed or modified if the subpoena commands a person to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may protect a person who is so affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) OBTAINING DISCOVERY TO SUBPOENA

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories of the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(2) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information it stores on more than one form.

(3) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. (A) In motion to compel discovery or to quash the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nevertheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(i)-(j). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(4) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld in a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly review, acquire, or destroy the specified information and, if possible, delete it. A party may not use or disclose the information and the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the original until the claim is resolved.

(5) (A) Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An order to compel obedience to a subpoena may be entered when a subpoena purports to require a party to attend at a place not within the limits specified in Rule 45(c)(1)(B)(i) or (ii) or to produce
